WINTER SPORTS MEN COMPETE IN RUTLAND CARNIVAL SATURDAY

Hunt, Weston and Dearborn To Vie With U.V.M., N. H.U., and Norwich.

ALUMNI DINNER AT HOTEL BERWICK

Basketball Game With Norwich Will Conclude Eventful Day.

Middlebury will send three men, Henry Weston, '29, Henry Hunt, '29, and James Dearborn '29, to Rutland Saturday to participate in the Winter Carnival. That evening an alumni dinner is scheduled, to be followed by the Norwich-Middlebury basketball game played in the Rutland Armory.

To start the day, Middlebury, Norwich, Vermont, Dartmouth, and New Hampshire State will compete in winter sports. Those five teams will compete for the Vermont Intercollegiate Carnival championship, with Middlebury, U. V. M., and Norwich vieing for the State championship, the cup for which is held by Middlebury for last year. The morning contests will consist of nothing but ski races. There will be a cross country race, a hundred yard dash, an obstacle race and a hill climbing contest. The after noon events will consist entirely of ski jumping, in which all comers will be allawed to compete, the college championships to be decided with the same jumps.

Following the plan inaugurated last year, the Middlebury alumni in the vicinity of Rutland, Vt., are to hold an informal dinner at 7 p. m. Saturday, February 4, at the Hotel Berwick in Rutland. The basketball game between Norwich University and Middlebury which is to be played that evening in the Armory will provide a special feature for those attending the dinner. All Middlebury people are invited to come and bring their friends but reservations should be in the hands of Charles F. Ryan, c-o Fenton, Wing & Morse, Rutland, Vt., by February 2.

The following committee is in charge of arrangements:

Charles F. Ryan, '26, Chairman; Mrs. Edith Johnson, '09; Dr. Stewart Ross, '20; Miss Ruth Clark, '19; Charles Howard, '22; Miss Ruth Quigley, '24.

A program of short after dinner-speeches and music is being arranged.

The Middlebury winter sports team consists of Henry Weston, Captain; Henry Hunt, and James Dearborn. The same are responsible for the winning of the state chamionship of last year.

Middlebury undergraduates may may purchase tickets for the banquet at the office of E. J. Wiley, the charge being $1.25. Reservations should be made by tmorrow afternoon. A dance will probably follow the basketball game.

Woman's Club to Present "Officer 666"

The Woman's Club of Middlebury will present its annual play, "Officer 666," by Augustin MacHugh, on Thursday evening, February 2, at the Town Hall.

This popular farce, with its melodramatic background and rapid changes of situation, should prove vastly entertaining. It is preemiently a drama of action, and centers on an attempted burglary complicated by misapprehensions. The cast is a representative one, and includes the experienced actors Messrs. Gibson, Edwards, and Stewart, who have often delighted Middlebury audiences by their skillful acting. Professor W. S. Burrage is directing the production.

MIDDLEBURY IN PARIS.

The Paris apartments of Professor and Mrs. Lewis J. Hathaway, 4 rue Leopold-Robert, were recently the scene of a Middlebury gathering. Ruth Cann, '19, Mary Louise Smith, '20, Guy Coolidge, '20, and Eleanor Manley, '27, joined the Hathaways and their daughter, Susan, in celebrating Professor Hathaway's birthday.

Miss Cann is now secretary of the American Women's Club in Paris. Miss Smith, whose address is 269 rue St. Jacques, and Mr. Coolidge, 15 rue Chomel, are both students there and Miss Manley was in Paris for a part of her Christmas recess from Bedford College, University of London.

SERVITOR'S DINNER DANCE BEST EVER

Hepburn Social Hall Cleverly Decorated With Pine.

In the environment of a hunting lodge, "Happy" Flint and his Black Panther Serenaders filled the air with harmony long to be remembered, making the sixth annual Servitor's Ball at Hepburn Hall last Monday evening a much talked about success.

William Green, '31, and Frank A. Chromec, '30, were responsible for the unique decorative effects in the ball room. The ceiling was a solid mass of pine boughs artistically arranged. Mr. A. Barton Hepburn's collection of animal heads helped much to make the room like a hunting lodge. Among the most interesting features in the decorations was a large zebra skin, the animal of which was hunted down by Mr. Hepburn. All the animal heads are of beasts shot by this sportsman.

The committee is indebted to Mr. Raymond Bosworth, '29, for his design of the dance orders. It consisted of a sketch of a Hepburn waiter appropriately attired and carrying a large tray of dishes toward a large H in the background likened to swinging doors.

Dancing started at 4:30 p. m. Dinner was served in the Commons dining room at 7:30, after which dancing was resumed until twelve. Appointments at the dinner were in red and white with valetine place cards.

E. H. Henry, '30, Chairman, Scott Babcock, '27, W. Francis Howe, '30, Donald Lindsley, '28, Frank A. Chromec, '30, William Greene, '31, and E. E. Willis, '29, composed the committee sponsoring the dance.

The patrons and patronesses were: Pres. and Mrs. P. D. Moody; Dean and Mrs. E. J. Wiley; Mrs. Maude O. Mason; Miss Mary C. Dutton and Miss Mary Bowles.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Has Joint Fraternity Party

A new idea in fraternity house parties at Middlebury was used by Delta Kappa Epsilon at their informal Saturday evening, Jan. 28, in their home. Guests were invited from the various fraternities on the campus. The purpose of this was to promote closer relations among the greek letter societies.

The dance was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. Maude O. Mason and Mrs. Bernice Yeaw.

Music was furnished by the Black Panther Duet.

Women's Skating Rink Flooded.

The women's skating rink was flooded over the week-end and the ice has been very smooth the past few days. The presence of an additional rink on the campus will relieve much of the congestion on the men's rink and should keep the ice in better condition for the hockey team. The string of lights around the women's rink was financed by the Women's Athletic Association.

BLUE GRIDSTERS AWARDED LETTERS

Prof. Swett Presents Sixteen Men With Coveted Honors.

Sixteen players and Manager A. D. Leahy received letter sweaters at Chapel service on January 24 in recognition of their work for the grid season of 1927. More than one-half of these men will not be with the Black Panther next season because of graduation.

The team encountered many difficulties in the past season, having had to cancel two games because of the floods and one game being undecided because of inefficient officiating. Prof. Phelps N. Swett, in presenting the team with the awards, summarized the season and mentioned with regret the leaving of the senior members of the team. There are eight men who will not report with the team next season, they are: Capt. R. A. (Mike) Furbush, who played the tackle position for three years and who was handicapped with a serious injury each season; George R. Hinman, veteran halfback; W. O. ("Wally") Gollnick, star quarterback; C. C. ("Clayt") Jones, who played guard and end; J. E. ("Swede") Hendrix, fullback and guard; H. B. ("Hal") Whittemore, flashy end and back; Milan ("Miggs") Palmer, star end; and C. D. ("Cal") Sinclair, who played tackle.

The men receiving letters for the past season are: Capt. R. A. Furbush, '28, Salem, Mass.; Capt.-elect C. A. Webber, '29, Rutland; W. O. Gollnick, '28, Milwaukee, Wis.; J. E. Hendrix, '28, Battle Creek, Mich.; G. R. Hinman, '28, Larchmont, N. Y.; C. C. Jones, '28, Waterbury; M. H. Palmer, '28, Hartford, Conn.; C. C. Sinclair, '28, North Attleboro, Mass.; C. W. Allen, '29, Framingham, Mass.; E. A. Bedell, '29, Whitehall, N. Y.; S. Guarnaccia, '30, Wakefield, Mass.; T. T. Huntington, '30, New Rochelle, N. Y.; R. L. Johnson, '30, Lynn, Mass.; G. B. MacNary, '30, Bloomfield, N. J.; K. Maynard, '29, Cambridge, N. Y.; and Manager A. D. Leahy, '28, Claremont, N. H.

GENERAL CATALOG TO BE OUT SOON

A new general catalog of Middlebury college, complete from the founding of the school in 1800 through the class of 1927 will shortly come from the press, according to a recent announcement by Edgar J. Wiley, director of admissions and personnel of the college, who is in charge of the work of compilation.

The new book is to be of a more elaborate nature than the issue of 1917 which also was compiled by Mr. Wiley. A comprehensive historical sketch of the college together with biographical sketches of the founders of the institution will be a feature of the new book.

In addition to biographical sketches of the members of the various classes Mr. Wiley has cimpiled a short his-Mr. Wiley has compiled a short history of each of the presidents, trustees and officers of the institution as well as of the faculty members. Information is given concerning the fraternity affiliations of each person mentioned in the book.

While the records of the college are unusually complete, the work of gathering data has entailed the writing of hundreds of letters as well as careful research of records other than those of the college.

Thos. Cook & Son (World-Wide Travel Service) offer to a student in each institution an all-inclusive free trip to Europe as a member of one of their escorted European tours in return for enrolling members in their parties.

Any students who are interested can secure further information from E. J. Wiley, Director of Admissions and Personnel.

FROSH FROLIC AT MIDDLEBURY INN

Middlebury's social season is now well under way, with the Scullion's Ball just over and the Frosh Frolic only a few days away. From now on there will be a formal or some other function each week-end.

The Frosh Frolic will be held this year at the Middlebury Inn, Saturday evening. Happy Flint and his Black Panther Serenaders, who played at the Servitor's Ball last Monday, will furnish the harmony. The excellent music which they rendered at past dances promises an enjoyable evening.

The committee sponsoring the dance includes Robert Miller, Chairmain, Richard Paul, Walter Thayer, Betty Moyle, Hazel Reno, and Geraldine Griffin.

LEADERS LOSE IN BASKET TOURNEY

Neutrals Lead League as Result of K. D. R. Defeat; D. U. Falls Before A. S. P.

The third week of the intramural basketball tournament was marked by the defeat of two of the strongest teams in the league. Alpha Sigma Phi surprised by handing the D. U. team a 30 to 14 defeat, while last year's champions, Kappa Delta Rho, bowed to the Neutrals by a score of 27 to 22.

Beta Kappa 22; Chi Psi 19

The Beta Kappa team won its first game of the tournament by beating the Chi Psi team in a loosely played contest January 18, by the score 22-19. Throughout the game the lead seesawed, neither team showing much form in passing or shooting. The Chi Psi team lead at half time by 13-19 but was unable to hold the advantage. For the winners, Kelley starred, scoring eight points, while Hinman and Williams played best for the losers.

Neutrals 27; K. D. R., 22

The Neutrals sprang a surprise by defeating the K. D. R. team by the score 27-22. The game was fast and well played, with both teams fighting for the lead. Good teamwork was displayed by both sides, but the superior shooting of the Neutrals won the game.

March and Valois featured the Neutrals' attack, scoring fifteen points between them. Cook and Thayer were the best players for the losers.

D. K. E. 37; D. S. 20

The D. K. E. team won their second victory in a decisive victory over the Delta Sigma team. The good shoot-

M. I. PUPIN SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT

Michael Idvorsky Pupin of New York, noted electrical expert and physicist, has accepted an invitation to be the commencement speaker at Middlebury college this year. Dr. Pupin stated that there was a possibility that he might be called abroad, in which case he would be unable to serve, but added that he thought this unlikely.

The commencement exercises which are scheduled for June 18, will be held in the Congregational church, where for 128 years these events have taken place.

Dr. Pupin is professor of electro-mechanics at Columbia, having been connected with that institution for 27 years. He was born in Hungary in 1858, was educated at Columbia and the University of Berlin and holds degrees from many leading colleges in this country and abroad.

His various inventions in the field of electricity, particularly radio and long distance telephonic communication have made him one of the foremost figures in the electrical world. His invention for the reduction or elimination of static in radio was presented to the U. S. government.

ARMY SEXTET BOWS BEFORE FAST ATTACK OF MIDDLEBURY TEAM

Whittemore and Simmons Make Three Points to Opponents 0.

HARDEST GAME OF THIS SEASON

Second and Third Periods Marked by Constant Body Checking.

In the hardest game played this season Middlebury defeated the Army pucksters by a score of 3 to 0 at West Point Bear Mountain Park last Saturday. Whittemore, Captain Simmons and Kelley again starred for the home team and Browning's numerous excellent stops kept the total at a low figure.

The game started off slowly with no scoring in the first period. There were several puck scrimmages and passing on the part of both teams, but without result. Middlebury got many good shots but the West Point goalie succeeded in stopping all of them.

The second period was fast from the start, the first goal coming as a result of a pass from Kelley to Whittemore. Later in the period the team tallied and Whittemore, getting the rubber from a scramble again scored. This period was marked by hard body checking on the part of both clubs.

Simmons added the final point in a passout from behind the cage. As the period advanced it became a potential fray, and the fastest hockey the team has encountered this season. This resulted in an Army man's dislocating his knee and another receiving an injury on his head, but the playing was as clean as it was hard. The Blue men received minor bruises.

The Line-up:

Middlebury 3		Army 0
Whittemore	Wing	Sawyer
Simmons	Wing	Dwyer
Kelley	Center	Moscatelli
Gruggle	Defense	Lindkuist
Bossert	Defense	McNamara
Melbye	Goal	Browning

Goals—Whittemore 2, Simmons 1.

Substitutes—Middlebury: Hill for Gruggle, Gruggle for Hill. Army: Schorr for Lindquist, Fink for Schorr, Schorr for Dwyer, Dwyer for McNamara.

Referee—Charles Mitchell.

Time of periods—20 minutes.

Middlebury 9; Rutland 1

The Middlebury College hockey team defeated the Rutland team in a game which was one-sided throughout all the periods by a score of 9-1 on last Thursday night at Rutland. The scoring was fairly evenly divided among the Middlebury forward line, who encountered practically no opposition in working the puck up the rink at will.

The game was attended by several hundred spectators, including some Middlebury students.

The line-up:

Middlebury—c, Kelley; r. w., Whittemore; l. w., Capt. Simmons; r. d., Gruggel; l. d., Bossert; g., Melbye; substitutes, Huntington, Hill, Douglas.

Rutland—c, Harrington; r. w., O'Brien; l. w., Rabidou; r. d., Jilson; l. d., Conners; g., Eddy; substitutes, Lynch, Riley, Stevens.

Referee—Hill, Middlebury.

Wig and Pen Changes.

Zella Cole '28 has been appointed to the position of scenic director in the Wig and Pen to fill the vacancy left by the graduation of Helen French, '28. Pauline Sanford will replace Richard Gould, '29, as properties director, and Fred Whittemore, '28, will be assistant properties director. Taking the place of David MacLean, '29, who is leaving college, Margaret Harworth, '29, is to be director of makeup.

JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS.

Droop-mouthed professors with single track minds, perpetually absent-minded professors with hungry looks, lanky professors always pictured with nets chasing butterflies, naive professors that shun women and barber shops, most of them have been relieved of their positions by time, trustees or the undertaker. They are old fashioned, a product of 1900, and have, with a few exceptions, disappeared.

To take their place has come a quite different type of teacher, one with social experience, wide contacts, and varied interests. Versatility characterizes the teacher of this new regime. He is in the cheering section at varsity games, has seen the latest plays, knows art, has read the latest fiction, can repeat the wisest cracks appearing in Judge last week. He is acquainted with life.

The fact that colleges have undergone a profound change in the past two decades has been repeated many times, but seldom is any of the credit of this change attributed to professors. New methods of pedagogy, elaborate changes in educational systems, building programs, the youth movement have all played a large part, but professors are responsible for a great deal of the rapid evolution.

There will always be a certain lack of appreciation of the work of teachers. They are underpaid, overworked, automatically barred from great wealth in life by their choice of a profession. We do not realize that they are working overtime in a voluntary effort to create a college that will be a greater social and political force in the world.

Middlebury is fortunate in being able to give its professors salaries considerably above the average of colleges, but the location away from educational centers would naturally prohibit securing ideal teachers for all courses. However, the fact that Middlebury is rated with Hamilton and Bowdoin as one of the three best small colleges in the east should in no small part be attributed to its professors.

As education comes to mean more and more in America, there is little doubt that the teaching profession will attain the social and financial status of the other advanced professions. If the change during the past decade is indicative of the change that may occur during the next few years the standard of professors is bound to advance beyond present comprehension.

The monk-professor has already become vestigial; colleges are introducing the Gentleman-and-the-scholar, a jolly good fellow.

The Campus enthusiastically commends the work of Professor Larson and Mr. Owen, as the New England Championship Glee Club starts this afternoon on its first tour.

EVERYBODY IN SOMETHING.

Both in the Men's and Women's college, the attitude toward athletics should be "Everybody in something." Probably a majority of Middlebury students are in some way connected with sports, and the efforts to expand the athletic program should be directed toward the rather small minority who do not have gymnastic interests.

But intramural athletics should never take the place of intercollege athletics. We feel that Syracuse University has recently committed a grave error in deciding to drop from its roster of intercollegiate competition eight minor sports, giving as the reason the fact that not enough men are enabled to compete on these teams. Unless some ideal system is taking the place of the old minor sports idea, this is very likely to result rather in a lack of interest. Intramural sports increase interest in sports, increase competition and have the effect on the varsity teams of bringing out more men.

The standards of intramural athletics should be constantly raised, and their importance stressed, but fraternities should not take the place of the College. If Middlebury had more facilities we could well recommend compulsory activity in some sport for every member of the Men's and Women's College.

LITERARY NOTES

"CASTE"
By Cosmo Hamilton
G. P. Putnam's Sons $2.00

"Civilization? Barbarism is the better word. We are not moving on, but slipping back. Fear, hate, jealousy, persecution are rampant. What are the churches doing? What is the use of old and new religions? Where is the influence of a League of Nations, a World Court, and other institutions which work for the end of hostility, when Jews and Gentiles are allowed to loathe each other as in the old bad days?"

"Caste" answers these questions pointedly, pessimistically, and perhaps truthfully in a story of high society life. Jean Farquhar, aristocratic American girl, falls in love with Max Lorbenstein, rich American Jew. All goes well in Paris and London where Jews are accepted in society, but profound social difficulties occur in New York. The Jean-Max affair is dissolved by his becoming a social outcast, but the struggle in behalf of their daughter brings together the Mrs. and Mr. Farquhar, long-separated couple.

A very old plot, but told absorbingly and intelligently with some excellent citations regarding modern youth.

"HAPPINESS"
By William Lyon Phelps
E. P. Dutton and Co. $1.00

Yes, of course, the mecca of civilization is happiness, and anyone that aids in helping the pilgrimage is always welcomed. Phelps should receive a most hearty reception. Money doesn't make a person happy; youth doesn't furnish perfect happiness; it isn't power; and popularity cannot hold the master key. The happiest person is the person who thinks the most interesting thoughts. He proves it and double proves it in his delightful essay. This is a sermon, an essay and exposition in one.

A Marvel of National Defense

From this 2½-acre deck, Uncle Sam's battle planes can now leap into action—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated—when the airplane carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U.S.S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horsepower to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 33 knots (39 miles an hour)—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

The design and construction of the electric equipment for the U. S. S. Saratoga and the U.S.S. Lexington, to which college-trained men contributed in great measure, exemplify the part General Electric plays in promoting the welfare of the nation.

ing and team work of the victors was responsible for the wide margin in score. At no time was the lead threatened. Webber played a fine game at center and also was high scorer, netting sixteen points. Willis and Goltry also played well for the winners, while Hoyt was the outstanding player of the Delta Sigs.

A. S. P. 30; D. U. 14

The D. U. team met their first defeat at the hands of the A. S. P. team in a one-sided game resulting in a score 30-14. The Alpha Sigs played excellent basketball and at the close of the game were scoring freely.

The fine passwork and accurate shooting of the winners was evident throughout the game. Miller was high scorer netting eleven points. Gollnick and McNary also played well for the winners. For the D. U. team, Crocker played his usual good game at guard, breaking up many attempts for goals.

"The Admirable Crichton" approaches high comedy and its appeal is definitely to the intellect although in dialogue it is less sparkling that the typical high comedy, Congreve's "Way of the World," and in significance "The Admirable Crichton" is decidedly more moral. It has a rather surprising amount of social criticism, almost propaganda, in it; but it is highly entertaining and does give rise to what Meredith called "thoughtful laughter."

For amateur production, its difficulties are appreciable—as to setting, costuming and, on as small a stage as ours, as to staging as well. These difficulties were met with very successfully in the productions given by the Wig and Pen the evenings of January 18 and 19 in the Playhouse.

The desert island set, designed by Raymond Bosworth, '29, was especially successful, and with the improved lighting of Thursday evening's production was very effective and very highly praised. The arrangements for the formal reception room were desirably spacious, and the properties, especially for the last act, were well chosen. One appreciated the difficultiesof costuming involved in the island scene, and accordingly admired the success of Jane Carrick in planning for them. The furs and skins were helpful, and Tweeny's blue dress was a good touch, since it showed itself to be a faded counterpart of the dress she had worn supposedly two years before. In the first act, good costuming appeared in the retinue of servants who came to have tea with the earl and his family.

Coming to the acting part of the play, we must offer unqualified praise to Mr. Young who played the highly difficult, highly complex role of Crichton. Interpreting with perfect transition of manner first the polite, obsequious butler, then the superior "gov", and finally returning to the butler role, again Mr. Young did a memorable and powerful piece of work; he was the admirable Crichton indeed.

Miss Palmer, as Lady Mary, was as pleasing as always, changing gracefully from the haughtiness of aristocracy to the humility of the island Polly so devoted to the "gov" and returning, with a just sufficiently perceptible change, to her aristocracy once more. Miss Crane—Tweeny—did steady acting with her consistent dialect and her quaint mannerisms, and Miss Collins and Miss Lackie were very fine, too. Miss Dietz was especially convincing as Lady Brocklehurst.

Of the men, Mr. Walker was outstandingly good; Mr. Lynch and Mr. Leahy were admirable sources of comedy and Mr. Brooks seemed to possess a natural and pleasing presence on stage.

The many servants who appeared in act one each had just enough individuality to add interest but not too much to make the inevitably crowded scene too confusing.

Characteristic of the co-operation existing within the Wig and Pen, the shifting of scenes was accomplished swiftly and with comparative quiet. In the meantime, Mr. Yeaw and his orchestra provided pleasing music for which we were grateful indeed.

The smoothness of the entire production of "The Admirable Crichton" gave evidence of the fine work Professor Morse is doing, and illustrated, too, how efficiently the Wig and Pen members co-operate with him. All deserve sincere commendation for "The Admirable Crichton's" success.

I. K. L.

The production of one act plays will be resumed on February 23 when two plays will be presented.

Distinguished by a favor that places it first

It is a natural pride that Camel feels for its triumphs. Not only did it lead the field shortly after its introduction. It passed steadily on with each succeeding year until today it holds a place in public favor higher than any other smoke ever reached. Camel is supreme with modern smokers.

Obviously, there is a quality here that particular smokers appreciate. It is indeed the myriad qualities of perfection that are to be found in the choicest tobaccos grown. And the art of Nature is aided by a blending that unfolds each delicate taste and fragrance.

You will more than like Camels. You will find a solace in them every smoking hour. Their mildness and mellowness are an endless pleasure.

"Have a Camel!"
